The following activities were assigned to the cells of the Communist Party of Chile (PCCh) for the week of 30 January to 7 February 1949:

1. Collect funds for the expenses of El Pueblo, organ of the Frente Nacional Democratico (FND), and for expenses of the meeting halls of the FND.
2. Organize money-raising campaigns through lotteries, dances, and the sale of bonds. The funds obtained were to be given immediately to the local PCCh committees.
3. Invite all Communist sympathizers to the meeting to be held in the Estadio Chile.* Information concerning the meeting was to be carried in the newspapers.
4. Avoid any activity which would lead to repressive measures by the government. Party members were instructed not to respond to any provocation. Remarks taunting the Communist leaders for being in hiding must be ignored. Members must also refrain from applauding orators in public meetings who advocate violence.
5. All juridical claims against employers must first be made known to the cell member charged with such matters. This person will assign the cases to an attorney or some individual capable of handling the question. It was stated that the more claims submitted, the better the Party and the working class would be served.

Comment. The meeting held on 4 February was attended by only some 400 persons, and was quickly dispersed by police.
